JOB-WORK OF ALL KINDS
Executed to order, neatly, and on reasonable terms.

It is intended to make the SHELBY SENTINEL a first-class Family Newspaper, Democratic in politics, devoted to General News, Literature, and Morality. To sustain our paper, we naturally expect the assistance and co-operation of the people of Shelby and adjoining counties. While the local interests of this section will not be neglected, we will aim to advance the general prosperity of the State.

The general interest and welfare of this section can in no better way be advanced than through the medium of a newspaper.

Believing that this is the only course which will result in permanent prosperity to the country, and that those views are such as the people of Kentucky naturally and heartily endorse, we shall uphold and defend them at all times. Firm in this opinion, that we can make our paper acceptable, we ask a liberal patronage.

Correspondence on all subjects is respectfully invited. All communications must be accompanied by the name of the writer, not for publication, unless desired, but as a guarantee of good faith and responsibility. Communications to insure favorable attention should be sent to the editor, and plainly written upon but one side of the paper.

Refused communications cannot be returned. Announcements of Marriages and Deaths published gratis.

Obituary Notices: Tributes of Respect, etc., will be charged fifty cents for each line, the money to accompany the manuscript.

Patent: Notice to advertise for them to other papers will advance the amount required to pay for each advertisement.

Advertisements under the "Special Notice" head will be charged 50 per cent. additional to the above rates.

All transient advertisements, and all advertisements to a distance, cash.

Yearly advertisements have the privilege of altering their advertisements quarterly. More frequent changes must be contracted for, otherwise they will be charged 25 cents per square for each change. Collection will be made quarterly.

AFFLICTED! SUFFER NO MORE!

THE ANGEL'S VISIT.

ATTENTIONALLY INSPIRED BY MRS. MATTIE DUNN.

BY JENNIE A. DOUGHERTY.

As the pearly dew-drops linger

Through the early morning hours.

Then is wafted by the zephyrus

Back among celestial flowers.

So thy life here on earth

So innocent was given—

Scarcely to smile upon life's pathway

Erre it was recalled to Heaven.

And now another angel's waiting

Far above you dome of blue,

And a tender voice is calling

That on earth's path called to you.

Here it is! So early human

Thou'lt linger but a day—

Pain and anguish, untold sorrow,

Even till called from earth away.

Marked you not the seal of Heaven

So upon that tiny form.

As you clasped it, Oh so tender—

To your heart so fond and warm.

As if there to shield it ever

From the curse and ill of life;

Giving love, and strength, and guidance

For the coming mortal strife.

But alas! while vainly gazing

With a strangely trembling heart,

God did teach thee—bitter lesson—

That thy darling was not dust.

And thy yearning heart must sadly

Loose its clinging, earthly hold—

For the "Tender Shepherd" missed it,

And recalled it to his fold!

All unseen and silent e'er

The dark messenger of death;

All unheeded, the cruel summons

For that title of mortal breath.

But "twere plain, as gazing after

The dark angel's track to trace;

For in lone away the soul-light

From the clasp'd cherub's hand.

Then in fancy, with I followed

Where the angel went before—

Far above the earthly shadows—

Where's the mortal sorrow now.

'Till I might find his own pathway

And the spirit lead me well;

For no unheeded mortal

Entered Heaven's eternal gate.

So I waited, and I listened,

And anon there came a voice—

"Go—rejoice thy onward journey—

Be the entering ones rejoice!"

"God, in mercy, lent thee treasure

Only for a transient day—

Now he gives a shining angel

For their little child of clay."

"Thou'lt in Heaven, now, forever,

Yet in their treasure still,

And the Saviour gently guards it—

As He will their hearts from ill."

Oh to rest on viewless pinions

With unseen, unheard will hover

Over one devoted home.

When the twilight darkly gathers

In the crimson painted west,

In thy dreams I'll whisper sweetly

In the land of endless rest.

Yes in sleep thou'lt hear the rustling

Of a pair of golden wings;

And thy heart will flutter strangely

When an unseen minister sings

Think, then, of thy little sleeper

Where the slumbering angel turns

As a glorious spirit shining

Where God's own bright watchfires burn.

COURTSHIP AFTER MARRIAGE.

"For goodness sake, why don't you keep that child quiet, Mary?"

"I shall be obliged to leave the room, and am not sure but the house, to get an opportunity to read my paper. Give him a dose of laudanum."

"That would undoubtedly quiet the child," replied Mrs. Baker—a dark-eyed, sweet-faced woman—without raising her voice.

him! Of course, she was crazy; and he surveyed her sweet countenance as she smiled on her baby and endeavored to amuse him.

"If this is the case, Mary, perhaps I had better pack up my traps and leave now?"

"Just as you please, Charles."

"Perhaps you love somebody else?"—this idea suggesting itself as the one most likely to account for what he called her inconsistent conduct.

"No, thank heaven!—that misery is spared me. The only person I love in this world, truly and fervently, is my darling baby. You know, Charles, when you took me, that I was an orphan, all alone in the world, with no near relative to whom I could apply for sympathy and consolation; and you promised, sacredly, before God and man, to love, honor and cherish me, so long as we both should live. You have proven false to your marriage-vow. Instead of love, I have received fault-finding and abuse; and, of course, there can be no honor where there is no love. But I never thought to say so much about it, for I have long ceased to sorrow over my lot; and you know enough of the human heart to perfectly comprehend that, when indifference takes the place of warm, devoted love, there isn't much desire to talk about it, even. So pursue whatever course you think proper: anything will be agreeable to me."

Charles Baker could hardly credit his own senses. She had made the astounding revelation with no show of passion, or feeling, even. She had not raised a tone of her voice, or spoken more quickly than her wont. So much the worse, thought Charles. He knew full well that words, sometimes spoken in the heat and fire of temper, can be recalled, and scarcely a shadow left in the soul; but his common sense, took into serious consideration the circumstances attending this unlooked-for revelation, and the bitter knowledge stared at him in the face that his wife had spoken the truth, and the iron entered his soul.

Indifference was the proper name for Mrs. Baker's feelings. She was in a sort of a morbid apathetic state, when it would take a tremendous shock to bring to her again the power of feeling. She loved her baby with a tender mother's whole-souled devotion, and this, to all appearance, was her only vulnerable spot.

The baby seemed to have been born more nervous and irritable than the most of babies, and had now arrived at the teething age, when it took all its mother's time and strength to take proper care of it.

It never had entered into Mr. Baker's head that he could take his turn at night, when his wife, sick and discouraged, paced the chamber-floor. It never occurred to him that he, as the father of the child (not taking into consideration at all any love and tenderness he might feel for his wife), ought to bear his share of the labor. Not he. When he could no longer endure the child's cries and moans, he betook himself to another apartment, carefully closing the doors, that no sounds might disturb him, and proceeded with his interrupted slumbers.

Evenings were spent at lodge, club, theatre—most anywhere but at home; and never since the first year of their married life had he invited his wife to accompany him to a single place of amusement, and scarcely ever to church; and yet this foolish man expected to preserve his wife's affection—expected that she would always be the tender, devoted companion. But here was a waking up, which made Charles tremble, and he secretly knew what reply to make, what course to pursue, or how to frame anything like an intelligible sentence.

"I never dreamed of this," he finally groaned out.

The Shelby Railroad.

For the purpose of correcting the absurd misrepresentations and erroneous impressions of the amount and rate of taxation under the proposed county subscription to the capital stock of the Shelby Railroad Company, we give below as accurate an estimate of the amount of tax to be collected each year, and the rate of taxation as it is practicable to make without an actual assessment.

The whole amount to be called for is $250,000, one half of which will be in bonds bearing six per cent interest, which are to be liquidated within six years.

It will not be denied that there are at least $7,000,000 of taxable property in the two railroad districts. About half of which is situated in each district.

One fourth of the whole subscription is to be paid the first year, one fourth the second year, the remaining half (the bonds) during the next four years. (The discretion is given to the County Court to pay the bonds earlier, but for the purpose of this calculation we will indulge the reasonable supposition that they will take the four years to pay them in.)

The interest on the bonds will be $7,500. We now see that we have to pay each year as follows:

Year.	Principal.	Interest.	Total.
1st	$62,500	$7,500	$70,000
2d	31,250	7,500	38,750
3d	31,250	7,500	38,750
4th	31,250	7,500	38,750
5th	31,250	7,500	38,750
6th	31,250	7,500	38,750

To pay these annual assessments which, bear in mind, include principal and interest, a tax will be levied as follows:

Dist. No. 1 $3,500,000 for year 1st per cent $45,000.00

Dist. No. 2 3,500,000 " " " " " " $45,000.00

Total tax for year $90,000.00

The second year will be precisely the same. The amounts to be raised the 3d, 4th, 5th and 6th years, will be perceived, are about one half as much as the 1st and 2d years, consequently the rate of taxation will be only 1/2 of one per cent, for those years in the 1st District and 1/4 of one per cent, in the 2d District, making the aggregate tax for the six years, about five per cent, in the first District and two and one half per cent, in the second District.

Every farmer can make the calculation of the amount of tax on his land in a moment from the above figures. Suppose his land is taxed at $30 per acre, he will pay the first two years 40 cents per acre, per year, and the last four years 20 cents per acre, in the first District. His whole tax for the six years will be $1,800 per acre. In the second District it will be $900 cents. If his land should be taxed at $45 per acre, his whole tax would be $2,700 in the first District.

Can the farmers of Shelby county hesitate to vote this small tax upon their land which they are to have six years to pay, and for every dollar of which they will receive stock in the road?

If this tax fails at all it will be because of the vote of the second District—we have no fears of the result in the first District. We ask you of the second District to consider how light your tax will be, and the fairness of the proposition we make you in voting double the rate of taxation upon ourselves. You should not lose this opportunity to secure the road at a less cost than will ever be afforded again.

POSTMASTERS.—On the 19th inst., the United States Senate confirmed the appointment of the following Postmasters for Kentucky: Wm. Standford, Shelbyville, Ky.; David T. Monypenny, Manfordsville, Ky.; Wesley H. Slack, Paducah, Ky.; K. M. Moore, Columbus, Ky.; Jas. Howard, Mt. Sterling, Ky.

The war in Mexico is assuming a more desperate and murderous character than ever. In retaliation for the shooting in cold blood of the French prisoners, the Imperial General Miramon has declared a war of extermination.

BACK-BONE: Photographed from "The Scalpel." By Edward H. Dixon, M. D. New York: Robert M. DeWitt, Publisher, 13 Frankfort street.

We have received a copy of this work, and having glanced at the contents rather hastily are inclined to the opinion that the work is a good one. In lieu of any remarks of our own, we clip the following notice from an exchange, with the promise to our readers that if, upon a careful reading, we find anything worth reproducing, we will take delight in laying it before them in a future issue.

"Dr. Dixon certainly is the boldest and most fearless of medical writers. He sees evil and does not hesitate to attack it in whatever garb it may be dressed. For more than sixteen years he has been battling with the prejudices of the world, and in the strongest language has condemned what he conceived to be abuses. He wields a trenchant pen, and while he has received bitter criticism, he has not failed to make his opponents feel the weight of his power. Like all eccentrics, he runs to extremes, but then in his violent assaults on society and different schools of science he tells many truths—truths that are rendered all the more disengaged by being plainly and emphatically told. The Doctor stands high in his profession, and in his long and bitter warfare against the established customs of society, he seems to have made many friends as enemies, for his practice is lucrative and extensive. BACK-BONE is made up of selections from the Scalpel, a journal published for nearly a score of years, at irregular periods, by the Doctor, and whose circulation, owing to its assaults on popular opinions, has been more than circumscribed. The general public is not aware of the loss it has sustained in not reading the Scalpel, therefore it doubtless will be pleased to learn that selections from its pages have been published in a handsome volume by Dr. DeWitt. The more widely we differ with a man the more anxious are we to read his satires and arguments. In referring to the book under notice Dr. Dixon, in a moment of candor remarks: 'If called on to characterize this volume—BACK-BONE—we should say it was the boldest, most insolent, serious, satirical, instructive, Mephistophelian affair that has been sent forth from the Press.' This is the truth, a nut shell, and the criticism of the Doctor on his own work, if we mistake not, will pass current with public."

Relief Meeting.

At a meeting of the citizens of Clayville and vicinity on Saturday, March 30, 1867—on motion J. S. Roberts was called to the chair and J. A. Gill appointed Secretary. After a short and able address by the Rev. Mr. Neely, of Alabama, setting forth the condition of the people of the South.

It was moved that this meeting resolve itself into a Southern Relief Association, with Adam Middleton as permanent President, and G. W. Hoke Secretary.

Resolved, That James Storts, J. D. Hope, Shelby Secaree, J. B. Slead, J. S. Roberts, C. S. Weakley and Geo. Cardwell, be appointed special committee to solicit contributions for the suffering South.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published in the Shelby Sentinel.

J. S. ROBERTS, Chairman.

J. A. GILL, Secretary.

At the above meeting the following contributions were taken:

Sam Smith	10	00
J. S. Roberts	10	00
J. W. Blaydes	10	00
J. D. Hope	10	00

A Correction.

SHELBY COUNTY, March 29, 1867.

MR. EDITOR: I wish to correct an error in your last issue. I see it there stated, in the Rev. Mr. Neely's publication of contributions for the suffering South, J. H. Magruder, 100 bushels of corn. That is a mistake. I never subscribed 100 bushels nor 1 bushel to Mr. Neely or any one else. A gentleman, during Circuit Court, asked me to subscribe something for the distressed of the South. I informed him that as soon as the road was sufficiently firm, I would haul a wagon load to Mr. Logan's Mill, as I understood he shelled and sacked the corn by arrangement.

The wagon I suppose holds 8 or 10 barrels in the year. The gentleman who informed Mr. Neely, (for I am unacquainted with Mr. Neely), labored under a mistake. He certainly misunderstood me, therefore I wish to undeceive Mr. Neely, he has given me more credit than I deserve. I intend as soon as the roads are sufficiently firm, to deliver the corn to the mill and report to the committee, Messrs. Davis, Robb & Co., without any publication so far as I am concerned.

J. H. MAGRUDER.

(Advertisement.)

TO THE HONORABLE (?) Z. WHEAT:

Sir—The pre-engagements of the Sentinel, for the present week, have excluded a portion of my review of your memorable performance in the Shelby Circuit Court a few days ago. You may expect its publication in the next issue of the paper. Had I been permitted to have responded to your offensive and unprovoked personalities, the matter would have terminated in the Court House. But I was sternly denied that privilege.

I now mean to appeal, in self-defense, to a tribunal, the approaches to whose bar are as unobscured by arbitrary forms, and as free to every American citizen, "as the chartered air."

I now, therefore, call upon you, sir, to meet me at Philippi.

I have now twenty years less a few weeks. During that long period, I have made personal and pecuniary sacrifices enough, for the benefit of public education, to entitle me, if I had no other plea, to exemption from the coarse abuse, in a Court of justice, by the licentious tongue of a professional harlequin and slanderer. Nemo me impune lacerat.

WM. I. WALLER.
SHELBY COUNTY, March 29, '67.

The central system has already been abandoned in nearly every city where it has been adopted.

Napoleon Third.

John S. C. Abbott, the man who wrote a glorification of the First Napoleon, in the form of history, goes in his dotage to see Napoleon Third, and gives in the following letter an account of the interview. It will be noticed that Abbott gives us at length what he says, with but little from Napoleon.

No. 9 RUE CASTILLONE, PARIS MAR. 1, '67.
MY DEAR SIR: It is with no little hesitation that I venture to write this letter. It may expose me to unpleasant remark. But, with a cautious pen, I will endeavor to describe some incidents, which I think will interest my friends in New Haven.

Three days ago I had a private interview with the Emperor. He received me by the fireside, entirely alone, in one of the interior parlors of the palace, and with the most gratifying cordiality. With apparently perfect frankness he conversed for nearly an hour upon the great questions of the day, expressing gratitude for the justice which had been done by my pen to the Emperor NAPOLEON I., and his satisfaction that the acts of his own administration were to be recorded in a friendly spirit.

While informing the Emperor that I had explored the libraries and bookshelves of Paris, to obtain every book and pamphlet which had been published during the fifteen years of his reign, upon the domestic policy and foreign diplomacy of France, and that I had an agent in London, to purchase every publication there, upon those subjects, and that I was anxious to obtain such documentary evidence as would carry the conviction of the truth of my narrative to every impartial mind, I said:

"When I reflect upon the birth of your Majesty in Paris, the first Empire then in the zenith of its glory—the birth of the Imperial Prince welcomed, not only by the ringing of all the bells of the metropolis, and the firing of the guns of the Invalides, but also by every demonstration of joy from Hamburg to Rome and from the Pyrenees to the Danube—the overthrow of the Empire by the Allied Powers, and the expulsion of the Bonaparte family from France—the retirement of Queen Hortense, and her two sons to the sequestered castle of Arenenberg—the careful education of the young princes in these solitudes—their youthful enthusiasm in joining the Italian patriots in their endeavor to throw off the Austrian yoke—the death of the elder brother, in your Majesty's arms, from the exhaustion of the disastrous campaign—the expulsion of Queen Hortense and her surviving child from the continent of Europe—your Majesty's wanderings in America—the return to England—the unsuccessful enterprises of Strasbourg and Boulogne—the five years captivity in the castle of Ham—the wonderful escape—the final expulsion of the Bourbons from France—the welcome your Majesty received, on his return to his native land, by being elected to the Chamber of Deputies by the almost unanimous vote of Paris—your speedy election as President of the Republic, by nearly six million of votes—the coup d'etat—the emphatic endorsement of that act, by the French people, in re-electing your Majesty for an additional term of ten years by a vote of nearly seven millions—the re-establishment of the Empire by the Senate of France, confirmed by a popular vote of nearly eight millions—the Roman question—the Crimean campaign—the liberation of Italy—the Mexican question, and the fifteen years of peace, prosperity and happiness enjoyed under your Majesty's reign—fifteen years of such tranquility and progress as the Kingdom never experienced before during all the centuries of the past—when I recall these scenes to mind, I cannot but regard the career of your Majesty as the sublimest drama of the nineteenth century; and it seems to me a matter of great moment that a truthful record of these events should be transmitted to posterity."

It perhaps would not be proper for me to record the frank remarks which the Emperor made in response. One sentiment, however, which he uttered, it cannot be wrong to state. In reference to the fifteen years of prosperity, such as absolute never before France has enjoyed, under his Majesty's reign, the Emperor remarked:

"That is true, Mr. ABBOTT, it is certainly true; and it is a suggestive fact that during these fifteen years France has never witnessed the shadow of an insurrection or of a barricade in the streets."

Then after a moment's pause he added: "It must be obvious to every unprejudiced mind, that all the measures of the administration are endeavors to promote the peace and prosperity of the French people."

In reference to the Mexican question, I remarked:

"I have always felt it to be a great mistake that our Government did not lend its moral support to the only Government which it seemed to me promised the restoration of peace and order to Mexico. The overthrow of the Empire inevitably plunges that unhappy people into that state of chronic anarchy which has desolated the country now for half a century."

To this view the Emperor expressed his assent, saying: "Of late years, indeed, having been so much misunderstood in America. It seemed to me that it was for the interest of the United States, as well as for the interest of Mexico, that there should be a stable Government there, which should secure the protection of the people and develop industry." He also expressed an earnest desire to maintain friendly relations with the United States.

The interview was prolonged for nearly an hour. I saw no visible indications of ill-health, though the Emperor looked decidedly older than when I saw him fourteen years ago. He alluded, in the course of the conversation, to the interview which he remembered. As I took my leave he took me cordially by the hand, expressed the intention to see me again, and gratified me by the assurance that he should send to my address a copy of all his published works—which are quite voluminous—for the Emperor is intellectually one of the most highly cultivated men in Europe.

The next evening I was honored with a public presentation to the Emperor and Empress at a magnificent soiree in the Tuilleries. Four thousand guests were present. The presentation scene was very imposing. It may not be improper for me to state that I was honored by particular attention. When my name was mentioned the Emperor approached, and taking me by the hand, said:

"I am happy to see you, Mr. ABBOTT. I bid you welcome to the palace of the Tuilleries."

This was an honor which was not conferred upon any one else. It is with a continually hesitating pen that I very briefly record these scenes. I am fully aware that I expose myself to imputations which will be painful to me. But I am sure that I have many kind friends in New Haven who will read this record with interest.

An Act to amend the Charter of the Shelby Railroad Company, and to authorize certain Districts in Shelby county to subscribe Stock in the same.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky:

SEC. 1. That the President and Directors of the Shelby Railroad Company, in addition to the powers granted by the General Charter, shall have power to contract with the President and Directors of the Louisville & Frankfort Railroad Company, and agree upon the terms permanently upon which they may have the use of the said Louisville & Frankfort road between Junction and Louisville, upon which to run the cars of the Shelby Railroad Company; or may contract with said Louisville & Frankfort Railroad Company, and surrender to them, permanently or temporarily, the right to run the entire route between Shelbyville and Louisville upon such terms as may be agreed upon.

SEC. 2. The County Court of Shelby county shall subscribe for stock in the Shelby Railroad Company, upon the following terms and conditions: Upon the written application of the President and Directors of said road setting forth their desire that the said subscription shall be made, and the amount to be subscribed not exceeding three hundred thousand dollars, and requesting the question to be submitted to the qualified voters in that portion of said county, embraced in the following described districts, viz: First—Beginning at the Jefferson and Shelby county line, at a point West of the residence of J. A. Demoss; thence East, including said residence, to the residence of Mrs. Carpenter, inclusive; thence, to the residence of John T. And, inclusive; thence, to the residence of Thomas Smith, inclusive; thence, to the residence of W. X. Beckham, inclusive; thence, to the residence of Olinus Gray, inclusive; thence East, to Bullskin creek; thence, with said creek, to the mouth of Clear creek; thence, to Reuben Smith's, inclusive; thence East, to the residence of F. H. Garmon, inclusive; thence, to the residence of W. H. Ballard, inclusive; thence, to the residence of Henry Pettenger, inclusive; thence East, to Gust's creek; thence, up said creek, and with its meanders, to the residence of Leonard Seacore, inclusive; thence, to the residence of Dr. A. S. Frederick, inclusive; thence, to the residence of James M. Gaughan, inclusive; thence, to the residence of Joseph G. Bird, inclusive; thence, to the residence of John White, inclusive; thence, to the residence of Robert Hanna, inclusive; thence, to the residence of David Hunter, inclusive; thence, to the store of A. E. Todd, inclusive; thence, with the Aiken road, to the residence of George Hudson, exclusive; thence, to the residence of Bryant Davis, exclusive; thence, to the residence of R. A. Wellmon, inclusive; thence West, to the Jefferson county line; thence with said line to the beginning. All contained in said summary to be called Precinct Number One. Second—All that portion of said county not included in said District, embraced in Election Precincts numbers one, two, five, six and seven, except that part of number five lying North of Railroad Precinct number one. The whole to be called Railroad Precinct Number Two.

SEC. 3. It shall be the duty of the County Court to enter such written application at length upon the record, and thereupon make an order, commanding the Sheriff of the county, on a day to be named in the order, to open the polls at each of the voting places in election precincts—No. 1, No. 2, No. 4, No. 5, No. 6 and No. 7—on the first day of March, to take the vote of the qualified voters in Railroad Precincts Number One and Number Two, upon the question, "shall the County Court subscribe for and in behalf of the tax-payers in Railroad Precincts Number One and Number Two, the amount proposed in said written application, and levy double the ad valorem tax on the property in Precinct Number One, that shall be levied on the property in Precinct Number Two, to pay the same."

The County Court shall have an assessment made of the property in said district, and the Court, in making said assessment, may follow any mode of assessment for said purpose, as far as practicable. A reasonable compensation shall be allowed the assessor, for his services, by the County Court. The Judges, Sheriff and Clerks of the State Elections, appointed to superintend the elections of State officers, shall attend at the respective voting places aforesaid and conduct the election, and, upon the failure of any of said officers to attend, those who do, shall appoint and qualify others in their places. At least twenty days previous notice in some paper published in the county shall be given by the Sheriff.

SEC. 4. The poll-books shall be kept open as required by the Constitution, and the books shall be certified by the officers of the election, and returned to the clerk of the County Court on the third day after the election. The officers of the election in those election precincts, divided by the lines of the Railroad Precincts, shall record the voters residing in railroad precincts Number One and Number Two in separate books or columns.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the County Judge and Clerk of County Court to count the vote for and against said subscription, and if a majority of all the votes cast in Railroad Precinct Number One shall be in favor of said subscription, and a majority of the aggregate vote cast shall be in favor of said subscription, the Judge shall forthwith fix a term of his Court, and give at least six days notice of the time and object of holding said Court, by notice, in writing, at the Court House door, and thereupon it shall be the duty of said Court to make said subscription.

SEC. 6. The said subscription shall be paid from time to time, as the President and Directors may apply for the same, in the following manner: The Judge shall issue his bonds for and on behalf of Railroad Precincts Number One and Number Two for not exceeding one half of said subscription, payable at such time and place in the State of Kentucky, as may be designated by the County Court, not exceeding six years, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent, per annum, with coupons attached, payable to the President and Directors of the Shelby Railroad Company and their successors. One-fourth of the whole amount of said subscription shall be raised by an ad valorem tax on the real and personal estate, within the said precincts, subject to taxation for revenue purposes. The same to be collected within one year from the date of said application. One-fourth shall be assessed and collected, in the same manner, within two years from said application.

SEC. 7. The County Court, in assessing and collecting taxes under this act, shall, for every mill of ad valorem tax assessed upon the property situated in Railroad Precinct Number Two, assess two mills of ad valorem tax on the property situated in Railroad Precinct Number One.

SEC. 8. The said taxes shall be collected as State taxes are collected, and at the same time, and shall be a lien on the property held by the various owners until paid. "Provided that the State shall have the prior lien for all taxes due the same." The officer collecting the same shall have full power to distrain as the Sheriff has to distrain for State Revenue, and may levy upon and sell land as the same is sold under execution.

SEC. 9. The Sheriff of Shelby county shall collect said taxes as levied, but, before he does so, he shall execute bond with good security in the County Court of Shelby county, payable to Commonwealth of Kentucky, for the faithful discharge of his duties under this act. Upon which bond said may be instituted in the name of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, for any breach of said bond: should the Sheriff fail or refuse to give said bond, then the County Court of Shelby county shall appoint some other person to collect said taxes requiring of him a bond as provided for in case of the Sheriff, who shall be subject to same liability as Sheriff, had he executed the bond.

SEC. 10. It shall be the duty of the collecting officer to give to the persons from whom he may collect any tax under the provisions of this act, a receipt, specifying the amount paid and the time of payment.

SEC. 11. Whenever the amount of said receipts equal to fifty dollars or more shall be presented to the President and Directors of said road, they shall issue to the holder a certificate of stock paid in to the amount of receipts surrendered, and the said person shall be from that time a stockholder in said road, and entitled to all the privileges of other stockholders.

SEC. 12. The County Court shall from time to time impose a tax to provide for the interest and principal of said bonds, and the said court may at any time, if it deems it right, impose a tax upon the real and personal estate in said districts to pay the whole or any part of the principal of said bonds. The amount so paid, shall be treated as stock, and so disposed of as is provided in the 11th clause of this act. Provided, that at no time shall a greater tax than two cents on the dollar be collected.

SEC. 13. The Treasurer of the Railroad Company shall be a receiver, to collect and receive the money from the Sheriff. SEC. 14. The County Judge, and County Clerk, and the Treasurer of the Railroad Company, shall, ex-officio, constitute a Board of Commissioners of the Sinking Fund; whose duty it shall be to manage the fund for the payment of the interest on the bonds and final payment of the principal thereof, when funds for that purpose shall be placed at their disposal.

SEC. 15. The Collector of said tax shall receive such compensation as shall be awarded by the County Court, not exceeding two per cent.

SEC. 16. Persons living within one of said railroad precincts, owning land in another, lying partly in both of said precincts, shall be taxed on the whole as being in the precinct in which he resides. The lands of non-residents shall be taxed according to the rate assessed on the precinct in which the lands, or the greater part, are situated.

SEC. 17. It is a condition of granting this amendment to the charter of said Company, that no part of the voluntary subscriptions made to the Capital Stock of said company in the years 1859 and 1860 shall be collected from those persons who are taxed to pay the subscription made by the County Court of Shelby county. This provision shall also apply to subscriptions made at that time by persons now deceased, whose estates are taxed in possession of their heirs or devisees.

SEC. 18. This act to take effect from the day of its passage.

HENRY D. McHENRY,
Speaker of the House of Representatives, protem.
RICHARD T. JACOB,
Speaker of the Senate.

Approved Feb. 27, 1867.

New Books.—B. B. Ross keeps the latest publications. He advertises several popular books in this issue. See his column.

WANTED.—An Agent to canvass Shelby and adjoining counties, for a book that will have a large sale, in fact one of the most popular books ever offered to the public. Particulars furnished upon application at this office.

Dr. B. M. Beckham whose card appears in to-day's Sentinel is a superior physician. He has always had a large practice and has been very successful. We can with perfect confidence recommend Dr. Beckham to our citizens.

RAILROAD MEETING.—There will be a Railroad meeting at the Court-house in Shelbyville next Monday, County Court day. Ed. Hobbs and S. L. Geiger of Jefferson, and others will address the meeting. Every citizen of the county should be present.

OUR LOUISVILLE AGENT.—W. Lewis Wharton, formerly of the firm of Wharton, Allen & Davis, is authorized to act as our agent in Louisville, and will receive and receipt for advertisements and subscriptions. Mr. A. Fulkerson is no longer an agent for the Sentinel.

Boyle county has recently voted a large tax to aid in the extension of the Kentucky Central Railroad through Danville. The vote in favor of the road was almost unanimous. Can Shelby act as laguard, while the State is marching on to wealth and prosperity.

Any new subscriber who has failed to get a premium, will please notify us of the fact immediately. All who wish to secure the splendid premium we are now offering, must subscribe for the Sentinel without delay, as we will withdraw the premium the first of May.

We have been shown two sets of artificial teeth made by Dr. Stivers. One on Vulcanite, and the other on California Gold—that for artistic skill, beauty of finish, and natural expression, exceeds anything we ever saw. They were made for two ladies in our county.

We refer our readers to the card of that estimable gentleman and excellent lawyer, John A. Middleton Jr. Mr. M. is too well known to the people of Shelby to require from us an introductory notice. As an advocate he is known to be skillful, zealous, and faithful, and is a gentleman above reproach.

It will be seen, from his advertisement, that Charles E. Blumer, the well known butcher, who for several years was a citizen of Shelbyville, has removed to Louisville. We commend Mr. Blumer as a man of experience, and one who will give satisfaction to his customers. Persons in Shelby who send him their orders, will have them filled promptly.

New Goods.—Messrs. Middleton & Swearingen are now receiving their spring stock. Now is your chance Ladies, to see some of the "loveliest" goods ever brought to Shelbyville. A full and complete stock of staple and fancy dry goods, with fair dealing and polite clerks insures Middleton & Swearingen a continuation of the success they have always enjoyed.

Literary Notices.

THE DIAMOND DICKENS.—Ticknor & Fields, the eminent Publishers of Boston, are rendering the reading public a service that will doubtless be appreciated. We refer to the proposed Diamond Edition of Charles Dickens' complete works. We have been favored by the publishers with the "Pickwick Papers," the first of the series, and can confidently assert that, if the entire edition corresponds with this volume for elegance, neatness and cheapness, the edition will surpass anything in this line ever attempted in this country. In fact, a change is wrought in the publishers art, and we may henceforth expect, instead of ponderous tomes, neat and beautiful editions of our favorite authors. The rivalry henceforth will be to produce elegant, compact and convenient editions, in the most attractive and legible print.

We have here "Pickwick Papers" complete, from type made expressly for this edition, plain, legible and beautiful, yet sufficiently small to give the volume a neat and convenient size; thus placing the price of the work within the reach of all lovers of the charming novelist. The illustrations are by Eytinge, and are in the best style of that clever artist. The only censure that has been bestowed upon the illustrations, are, that the artist has not given us English characters. This, if true, should not detract from the work, for the human nature of Dickens is not peculiarly English, but rather pertains to the world at large, and this idea is realized by the artist, who has performed his part well.

The complete works of Dickens will be comprised in twelve or thirteen volumes, to be issued at the rate of one each month. From the Atlantic Monthly we learn that the Diamond Edition, from the press of Messrs. Ticknor & Fields, for 1867, will include all of Dickens' works, Longfellow, Whittier, and Owen Meredith's Poems, and the Watery Novel. In announcing this, the public is announcing of a rare intellectual treat in store, and the enterprising publishers have the satisfaction of knowing that in the Diamond Editions they have made a decided "hit." For the benefit of our Shelby readers, we will state that "Pickwick Papers," and "Our Mutual Friend" Diamond Edition, may be had at the Book Store of B. B. Ross, in Shelbyville.

WASHINGTON, March 30.

The President to-day issued the following, a copy of which was addressed to each Senator:

Whereas, objects of interest to the United States require that the Senate should be convened at 12 o'clock on Monday, the first day of April next, to receive and act upon such communication as may be made to it on the part of the Executive; now therefore, I, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, have considered it to be my duty to issue this my proclamation, declaring that an extraordinary occasion requires the Senate of the United States to convene for the transaction of business at the Capitol in the city of Washington, on Monday, the first day of April next, at 12 o'clock, on that day of which all who shall at that time be entitled to act as that body are hereby required to take notice.

Given under my hand and seal of the United States at Washington, on the 30th day of March, in the year of our Lord 1867, and of the independence of the United States of America the ninety-first.

ODE TO THE CHIGNON.
Oh! once I knew
With azure eyes and golden hair,
And a gaze—oh! in rapture lost—
My heart—my heart, all temperate,
Became so weak, I could not speak,
But stood amazed, all beauty-crazed!
Her golden curls in clusters fell,
And seemed to melt in amber old tell,
She seemed the fairest of the fair,
But oh! one day, one woe-filled day,
I met my beauty on the street,
Her hair done up in such a way,
No spirit in a winking-claret,
Could give me greater fright,
Oh, such a sight!
And as I gazed,
In wonder mazed,
Oh, such a sight!
That one, that also,
So sweet and fair,
In golden hair,
In rippling curls,
This queen of girls,
Should leave the people,
Appear with such a people,
Slanting upward from her crown,
Like the flames leaping from a pine,
Which all eyes must come tumbling down,
(O Mary, Mabel, Ethel, Kate, Theresa!)
What chance has your name, you surely are
Some name more true and Nature very fair,
Upsetting all the known classic rules
Devised in ancient Greek and Latin schools,
Your locks were made to ripple, fall and flow,
But never, never meant to stick up so!
And to your beauty thus unjust,
How do you think your friends
Can recognize this hair?

Letter from Gen. Longstreet.
It will be seen by the following letter, published in a New Orleans paper, that General Longstreet favors the acceptance of the military bill of Congress:
NEW ORLEANS, La., March 18, 1867.
* * * * *
As I have never applied myself to politics, I cannot claim to speak to the wise statesmen of the country, who are devoting their energies to the solution of the problem which agitates the public mind. I can only speak the plain, honest convictions of a soldier.
It can hardly be necessary at this late day, to enter into a discussion of the matter, that is usually brought up in arguing upon the proposed plan for reconstructing the Government. Indeed, I think that many of them are not pertinent to the question.
The striking feature, and the one that our people should keep in view, is that we are a conquered people. Recognizing this fact fairly and squarely, there is but one course left for us as men to pursue. Accept the terms that are offered to us by the conquerors! There can be no discord to a conquered people for accepting the conditions offered by their conquerors. Nor is that any occasion for a feeling of humiliation. We have made an honest fight, and I hope that I may say, a creditable fight, but we have lost. Let us come forward then and accept the ends involved in the struggle.
Our people earnestly desire that the constitutional government shall be re-established, and the only means to accomplish this is to comply with the requirements of the recent Congressional legislation.
It is said by some that Congress will not receive us even after we have complied with their conditions. But I can find no sufficient reason for entertaining this proposition for a moment. I cannot admit that the representative men of a great nation could make such a pledge in bad faith. Admitting, however, that there is such a mental reservation, can that be any excuse for us in failing to discharge our duty? Let us accept the terms as we are in duty bound to do, and if there is a lack of good faith, let it be upon others.
I am, very respectfully, your most obedient servant,
JAMES LONGSTREET.

Some statistical genius declares that more money is expended in the United States for cigars than for all the common schools in the country.
A wag who is undoubtedly a lover of the weed, seeing the statement going through the papers, got off the following:
"It has been calculated that the cost of washing linen that might just as well be worn two days longer, amounts to enough, in this country, to more than defray the expenses of the American Board of Foreign Missions."
"The expense of buttons on the backs of our coats, where they are of no earthly use, is equal to the support of all our orphan asylums."
"It is estimated that the value of old boots thrown aside, which might have been worn at least a day longer, is more than enough to buy a flannel gown for every baby in the land. Also, that the cost of the extra inch on the fall-hat collar of our young men is equal to the sum necessary to put a Bible in the hands of every Patagonian giant."

A HARD HIT AT BUTLER.—The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore American, giving an account of the reading by the Clerk of the House of Stevens' confessional speech says:
While the Clerk was reading the above paragraph, and particularly when he came to these lines: "He commanded the men and the women to borrow from their confiding neighbors jewels of silver and jewels of gold," and that they did so, "and spoiled the Egyptians and went forth full-handed," every eye turned upon Butler, whose ordinarily shabby face assumed by turns all the colors of the rainbow. The probability of Stevens' not, of course, be justified on any ground; but if, as is supposed, the allusion was intended merely as a sly dig at the hero of Bethel and of New Orleans, this rival for the next Presidency, it must certainly be regarded as less atrociously mischievous.

JOS. MILLINGS ON CONTRADICTIONS.—No notice will be taken—from this date hereafter—of letters that don't get a postage stamp upon them.
Don't write only on one side of the manuscript, and don't write much onto that.
Don't send a manuscript unless you can read it yourself when it gets dry.
We pay all the way up hill, from 10 cents to one dollar for contributions according to merit.
All settlements made at the end of the next ensuing year.
Poetry and prose pieces respectfully solicited.
The highest market price paid for awards, railroad passes, and all presents with an other man's wife.
No swearing aloud in our paper.

STUBBLE.—A man named James Stevens, a citizen of Woodford county, formerly a member of Company A, 5th Kentucky Cavalry, C. S. A., committed suicide on Sunday morning last by shooting himself through the heart with a Colt's pistol. No cause is given for the rash act. He left a letter for his brother, dated the 21st inst., in which he stated that he was miserable, and that he intended committing the act. He was about 32 years of age.
